IRIS TRAINING.

B&D are continuing to roll out the evidence based IRIS training to support clinicians in asking about patients experience of DVA in the context of Covid-19 and providing practices with an efficient referral pathway for survivors to receive specialist support.

Congratulations to our Domestic Abuse Aware Practices!

Very useful training. It will definitely help me to identify DVA issues in the future

—— DOCTOR

TRAINING EVALUATION

Average rise (across all questions) in self-reported knowledge, confidence and skills relating to DVA.

Home is not a safe place for patients affected by domestic abuse.

COVID-19 has a detrimental impact on the safety and lives of patients affected by domestic abuse and their children. There were 16 domestic homicide cases involving women and their children in the first 3 weeks of lockdown alone.

Please continue to refer your patients to the Barking IRIS service. Training on domestic abuse and safeguarding continues to be important and relevant. You can offer a simple and direct route to support from an IRIS Advocate Educator for your patients.
